DESIGN NOTES

Review trust in the small moments

Permissions, pricing and recovery from errors

Rupesh Kumar

DESIGN NOTES

Choose a moment with a real decision

01 Look where the customer must grant access, pay or recover.

02 Write what they need to understand before continuing.

03 Keep the review tied to that particular task.

Explain a permission request

01 Say what access is being requested.

02 Explain which task needs that access.

03 State what happens if the customer declines.

Hypothetical: calendar access lets the tool show available appointment times.

DESIGN NOTES

Make a price understandable

01 Show what is included at the point of the choice.

02 Explain when a charge begins and whether it repeats.

03 Make cancellation conditions easy to find.

DESIGN NOTES

Tell the person what happened

01 Use a specific explanation when a task fails.

02 Say whether their work or payment was saved.

03 Provide a next action that fits the error.

DESIGN NOTES

Keep the promise consistent

01 Compare these moments with the product claim.

02 Check whether the wording matches the actual behavior.

03 Remove reassurance you cannot support.

DESIGN NOTES

Choose one moment to test

01 Give a person the task without explaining the screen.

02 Ask what they expect before they continue.

03 Compare their expectation with what happens next.